

The 3rd Workshop of Design for Diversity & Inclusion

Kyōsei

Date and Time 17:30-19:00, Tuesday, January 31, 2023

Site Hybrid (Zoom or Kyushu University Ohashi Campus Design Common 2F)

Language Japanese (with an English subtitle by automated interpretation)

The Workshop of Design for Diversity & Inclusion has invited professors studying various fields at the Faculty of Design or practitioners to approach the concepts of Shakai Hōsetsu Dezain (design for diversity & inclusion) from multiple perspectives.

The theme is Kyōsei, which means coexistence or multicultural symbiosis in English. 2,669,267 foreigners are living in Japanese society (according to Japan Immigration Services Agency). Those who have diverse cultural backgrounds, religions, and ethnicities are already living in this country. However, many incidents highlight the matter of immigration policy in Japan, such as the abuse and death of an incarcerated Sri Lankan woman and the unfair treatment of technical intern trainees (ginō jissūsei). Then, how can we revise the way of hosting people to project a society where we live together?

Dr. Masakazu Tani, who has studied Rohingya people in Bangladesh, and Dr. Moe Shimomura, who has consulted with international students at the International Office, will talk about the theme by linking it to our daily cases. And in the latter half of the workshop, we would like to have time to take questions from the audience and think together. This event will be held online and offline with an automatic translation. Please join us.
